

The Dawn of a New Era.

The dawn of a day when the output from the camp of Tonopah, in Nye county, Nevada, shall steadily increase, is at hand. For the first time in its history the output last week exceeded 10,000 tons, in fact nearly reaching 11,000. The factors which have made this possible and the development now under way, are convincingly stated in the following from the current issue of the Tonopah Miner, which says:

"From this week's tonnage is omitted the usual output of the MacNamara mill, due to its temporary disablement and the steady increase of the immediate future may be looked for with assurance from the Jim Butler and Tonopah Merger mines, which will shortly join the ranks of regular producers. Looming up in the not far distant future as producing mines are the following many properties now under vigorous development: Mizpah Extension, Halifax, Tonopah 76, Monarch, Pittsburg Extension, Rescue-Eola, Buckeye-Belmont, Golden Crown, Umatilla, Gypsy Queen and Cash Boy. Not all these may make mines, but all have a good chance in this remarkable camp and some are rightly regarded as certain to become producers under intelligent development.

"Recent developments in the Tonopah Extension and Tonopah Merger mines substantiate the fact that the great ore bodies on the western zone occur in both rhyolite and trachyte, the former of which extends for an unknown distance west and north, under which is the trachyte, thus adding enormously to the unproven potentials of the district.

"The effect of this geological discovery is already being felt and companies owning property even west of those now being developed and north of what has been till now regarded as the boundary of the mineral zone, are preparing to commence extensive work. On the eastern zone the conditions are the same and the activity now so marked on the west will shortly be equalled on the west. And no man dare say which has a chance and which has not. If the proper ore-bearing formation is penetrated the discovery of ore is but a matter of further exploration. And the theory that this is a shallow camp is now exploded. At a depth of over 1,400 feet the Belmont is opening up splendid ore, while in the extreme west the ore-bearing formation is proved to a depth of 1,100 feet in a crosscut from the old Pittsburg shaft.

"It is these conditions that have justified the sinking of the Halifax shaft a depth of nearly 1,400 feet before encountering the proper ore bearing formation and below this the ore may extend to a depth equal to that of the Belmont adjoining.

"These are some of the marvelous possibilities of a camp which already has enough ore blocked out in its mines for 20 years to come, that is adding to these resources in its present producing mines and by the opening up of new properties. One other factor is assuring the great length of the life of the camp—the decrease in costs of milling by which in time to come ore even too low grade to work now will be profitably treated.

"Today the most remarkable thing about Tonopah is its steady advancement in every way. The gradual growth of its great mineral output, the persistent extension of its producing mineral belt, the growing conviction among mining men that its limits both east and west and north and south are capable of great extension, and the yearly increase in the amount of dividends distributed are the indisputable facts that appeal to investors and makes Tonopah the greatest silver-gold camp in the world."

An Old Producer.

The old Peabody mine, which is among the most famous of the old producers in Arizona, having yielded 2,225,000$ previous to its closing some years ago, has been opened up again for operations in the Johnson district by Tom Johnson, and he is shipping over 300 tons per month from the property. The ore is high grade copper carbonate running 11, 12 and 13 per cent copper. The first copper smelter ever used in Arizona was operated at this mine in the early days. —Tombstone Prospector.

An act of the first legislature of the state of Arizona, provides that each county in the state is entitled to one scholarship at the University at Tucson and the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars ($150.00) is appropriated to provide tuition, room and board for such scholarship each year.

Under the provisions of this act I will hold an examination on the last Saturday in August (Aug. 31), according to the rules and regulations prescribed:

This examination is open to persons between the ages of sixteen and twenty-two years of age who are graduates of the county high school or residents of the county who have completed a course equivalent to such high school four year course.

The result of such examination is then submitted to the president of the state university and on the award of the University faculty a certificate is issued to the person passing with the highest record. Should the holder fail to accept the scholarship the next highest is entitled to it in the order of excellency.
